Commodore's Remarks

We're optimistic about the upcoming sailing season. Plenty of snow melt to come from the northern & central Rockies, even the southern mountains are getting some snow now. With luck, even Heron & McConaughey can be back in business.

SAIL's trying harder to serve our members. We're planning a survey to ask what you want. But, don't wait for it. Tell us now.

See you on the water.

(Ed. for) ..... Steven Davis

Newsletter Distribution

The Intermountain Sailor is published for the benefit of SAIL's paid members. Our Treasurer is understandably upset about spending money to send copies to large numbers of folks who don't pay dues. One of our largest expenses is copying and mailing this newsletter. Therefore, paper copies will be mailed only to those who are current in their dues and make a special request.

Dues Due

2006 dues are now due. It's a bargain, $15 for a year of membership. See the back page for renewal information.

Shootout & Hornblower Schedule Change

Due to a permitting problem, the scheduled dates for the Mile High Shootout & Hornblower Regattas have been changed to April 29-30 and May 20-21, respectively. The Shootout, a keelboat competition, has traditionally been on the first weekend of May, but the park administration had given that date to another water event. Similarly, the park would not grant a permit for the Hornblower (a dinghy event) in May other than the 20th & 21st.

Astute readers of the calendar (page 2) will recognize that both dates now conflict with previously-scheduled events. Denver Sailing Association, reports that it is working with the park managers to avoid such conflicts in the future. For more information and notices of race, see www.denversailing.org.

Leukemia Cup Kick-off

Just in case you get this in time: Colorado Sail & Yacht Club is hosting the kick-off party for the Leukemia Cup 6:30 PM, Saturday, April 1st at Onofrio Piano, 2332 So. Bradway, Denver.

Dillon Snares Snipes

The 2007 Snipe National Championship Regattas will be held at Lake Dillon, it has just been learned. This summer, Dillon Yacht Club will host a Snipe Regional Championship to acquaint the class with the conditions. For more information, contact Doug Swenson at 303-863-0566 (no e-mail).
